PLAINTIFFS' MOTION FOR JUDICIAL NOTICE

Pursuant to Rule 201 of the Federal Rules of Evidence, Plaintiffs submit this Motion for judicial notice in advance of trial and respectfully request the Court take judicial notice of specific facts and information identified within Exhibits A through N attached, hereto.

1. ñThe court must take judicial notice if a party requests it and the court is supplied with the necessary information.ò Fed. R. Evid. 201(c)(2). ñThe doctrine of judicial notice permits a judge to consider a generally accepted or readily verified fact as proved without requiring evidence to establish it.ò United States v. Berrojo, 628 F.2d 368, 369 (5th Cir. 1980). Taking judicial notice of facts relating to the nature and timing of special elections in Mississippi and facts pertaining to Mississippiôs Planning and Development Districts (ñPDDsò) are appropriate, relevant for this case, and will streamline the presentation of evidence at trial. See, e.g., Am. Gen. Life Ins. Co. v. Hannah, No. 1:12-CV-00087-GHD, 2014 WL 1413540, at *4 (N.D. Miss. Apr. 11, 2014) (quoting Fed. R. Evid. 201(b)) (citing Taylor v. Charter Med. Corp., 162 F.3d 827, 830ï 31 (5th Cir. 1998)); see also Weaver v. United States, 298 F.2d 496, 498ï 99 (5th Cir. 1962) (ñSpecific facts and propositions of generalized knowledge which are capable of immediate and accurate determination by resort to easily accessible sources of indisputable accuracy may be judicially noticed.ò).

2. Plaintiffs seek judicial notice of the following facts:

The nature and timing of recent special elections that were scheduled to fill multiple vacancies in the Mississippi state legislature during 2020 and 2021, including the procedures for setting special elections, as well as the basic structure and function of Mississippiôs Planning and Development Districts (ñPDDsò).

3. In support of this Motion, Plaintiffs incorporate their supporting Memorandum, concurrently filed with this Motion.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiffs respectfully request the Court grant this Motion and take judicial notice of the above-listed facts as ñgenerally known within the trial courtôs territorial jurisdictionò

Governor sets special elections in November to fill 2 empty seats in Mississippi Senate

Associated Press

Published 3:40 p.m. CT July 14, 2021

JACKSON, Miss. — Mississippi Gov. Tate Reeves has set special elections in November to fill two empty seats in the Mississippi Senate.

Democratic Sens. Sampson Jackson of Preston and Tammy Witherspoon of Magnolia stepped down June 30, the last day of the state budget year. Witherspoon was inaugurated the next day as mayor of her hometown.

Reeves spokeswoman Bailey Martin said Wednesday that the governor set the special elections for Nov. 2 — the same day as elections to fill some school board seats and some vacancies in county offices. If runoffs are needed, they will be Nov. 23.

Upset in Clarksdale: Mayor, commissioners gave themselves huge pay raises Candidates in Mississippi special elections run without party labels, and the elections to replace Jackson and Witherspoon will not change the balance of power. Republicans hold a majority in the 52-member Senate.

Jackson had been in the Senate since 1992 and was chairman of the Forestry Committee this term. He represented District 32, which includes Kemper, Lauderdale, Noxubee and Winston counties.

Witherspoon had been in the Senate since 2016. This term, she was chairwoman of the Enrolled Bills Committee and vice chairwoman of the Housing Committee. She represented District 38, which includes Adams, Amite, Pike, Walthall and Wilkinson counties.

Legislators are not at the Capitol now, and their regular session begins in January.

Mississippi voters head to polls Tuesday to fill four open legislative seats

Voters in House districts 66 and 37, and Senate districts 15 and 39, need to pick new lawmakers to represent them in Jackson for the next three years

Luke Ramseth
Mississippi Clarion Ledger

Published 5:00 a.m. CT Sept. 19, 2020 | Updated 9:03 a.m. CT Sept. 19, 2020

Voters in four Mississippi legislative districts head to the polls Tuesday for a special election to replace several state lawmakers who recently resigned.

Gov. Tate Reeves called the special election — just six weeks before the Nov. 3 presidential election — after multiple veteran lawmakers departed their posts early, some for health reasons and others to accept new jobs.

The open seats are in House District 66, previously held by Democrat Jarvis Dortch of Raymond; and District 37, previously held by Republican Gary Chism of Columbus. In the Senate, open seats are District 15, previously held by Republican Gary Jackson of French Camp; and District 39, previously held by Republican Sally Doty of Brookhaven.

A fifth special election to fill vacant House District 87 is scheduled for Nov. 3.

Every special election contest is nonpartisan, meaning party affiliation won't be listed on the ballot. The winner of each race will serve the remaining three years of the departing legislator's term.

The polls are open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., and any voter in line at 7 p.m. is entitled to cast a ballot. To find out where your polling place is located, visit sos.ms.gov/pollingplace. Voters must present a form of government photo identification at their polling place, such as a driver's license, passport, or military photo ID. A sample ballot and other voter information, including COVID-19 information, is at sos.ms.gov/elections-voting.

The special election will be an early test of state and county coronavirus protocols at polling places. Mississippi continues to report hundreds of new virus cases each day, though total counts have been trending downward in recent weeks.

Absentee voting lawsuit: Mississippi absentee ballot rules challenged amid pandemic

Mississippi secretary of state spokeswoman Kendra James said, unlike for the general election, state officials have not been able to provide hand sanitizer and other protective equipment for poll workers for Tuesday's special election.

"But we have encouraged each county to provide COVID-19 safety materials for each precinct," she said.

For general election: Absentee voting begins Sept. 21 in Mississippi. What you need to know

James said while voters are encouraged to wear masks, they are not mandated to enter a polling place, and a voter cannot be denied entry for not wearing one.

Here's a rundown of each race and who's running:

House District 66

This seat, which covers parts of southwest Jackson and rural Hinds County, was vacated in early July by Dortch after he accepted a job as the new state director of the American Civil Liberties Union. Here are the candidates:

Gregory Divinity — Divinity is a real estate investor and says on his website he has "worked to improve the community by establishing a preschool, afterschool (and) tutorial programs and at-risk neighborhood programs." He also touts his military and federal law enforcement experience.

Robert "Bob" Lee Jr. — Lee says in an online voter guide he is a former teacher who said he supports a pay increase for teachers. He says improving education is the way to improve economic opportunities in the state. He also says he backs equal pay legislation for women and criminal justice reform "to see equitable sentencing regardless of sex or race."

Fabian Nelson — Nelson, a real estate broker, says on his website a top priority would be improving health care access in the district — especially amidst the pandemic. He also says he would focus on affordable housing in rural areas, supporting small business and education parity.

Kathryn Orey Perry — Perry, a preacher, pledges to focus on bringing jobs to the area, improving the education system, and argues Hinds Community College should one day become a university.

De'Keither Stamps — Stamps has been a Jackson city councilman for Ward 4 since 2013. “We’re pro-education," he recently told WJTV-TV. "Our education system is vitally important and pro-economy. We believe Mississippi should be doing business all over the world to a higher degree."

Calvin Williams — Williams is a Utica councilman. On his Facebook page, he discusses focusing on improving education and raising teacher pay, as well as enacting policies that "will be beneficial for all people regardless of demographic and socio-economic status."

House District 37

Chism, of Columbus, departed this seat, which covers areas around Columbus and Starkville, in June to take care of his wife as she faces health issues. He had served since 2000. Here are the candidates:

David Chism — David Chism is Gary Chism's cousin and owns a Lowndes County pool service, according to The Commercial Dispatch. The self-described fiscal conservative says on his website two of his top priorities are expanding broadband access in rural parts of the state and "low taxes and low regulation."

Vicky Rose — Rose, a Libertarian, says she would advocate for "less intrusive" state government. "The job is about protecting your dollars and protecting your right to live in a self-responsible way that we have enjoyed since the founding of our nation and applying these protections to everyone," she wrote on her website.

Lynn Wright — Wright is a former Lowndes County School District superintendent and has said education issues would be a top priority. "I had a reputation with superintendents in the state because of the hours that I logged. I was the hardest-working superintendent in the state," he said at a recent campaign event, according to The Dispatch.

Senate District 15

Jackson, of French Camp, who served since 2004, resigned due to health concerns in June. The district is in Choctaw, Montgomery, Oktibbeha and Webster counties. Here are the candidates:

Bricklee Miller — Miller is an Oktibbeha County supervisor and the longtime director of the Mississippi Horse Park. She cites strengthening the education system, job growth and "protecting the unborn" as among her top priorities.

Levon Murphy Jr. — Murphy owns Murphy Motors in Ackerman. He said his top priorities are improving education, economic development and criminal justice reform.

Bart Williams — Williams is a Starkville businessman who says he'd advocate for small business tax cuts, education, as well as cultural and diversity training for law enforcement, according to The Dispatch.

Joyce Meek Yates — Yates has a background in higher education as a professor and director in health studies. Education would be a top priority, as would improving health care in the state and supporting small businesses.

Senate District 39

Doty of Brookhaven served in the Senate for nine years, but resigned in July to accept her appointment by Gov. Tate Reeves to lead the state's Public Utilities Staff. The district is in Copiah, Lawrence, Lincoln and Walthall counties. Here are the candidates:

Jason Barrett — Barrett is an attorney, small business owner and former teacher. He describes himself as a "conservative Republican who believes government should be run from the citizens up, not bureaucracy down."

Beth Brown — Brown is a nurse practitioner who operates health care clinics and also ran for the seat last year. "Mississippi still ranks #50 in healthcare in the U.S.," she wrote on Facebook. "We need the experience and knowledge of healthcare in our State Senate to be able to lead our State forward."

Cindy Bryan — Bryan is the mayor of the town of New Hebron. "We need someone who is committed to fighting for our public education, for conservative measures in our state budget, to support our law enforcement, and for our rural health care in our state," she said in a recent commercial.

Mike Campbell — Campbell has worked in law enforcement and as a respiratory therapist. He touts his diverse professional experience and Christian faith on his campaign Facebook page.

Josh Davis — Davis, the owner of A&J Pool Service, also ran for the seat last year. He says improving the region's education system, and fixing the teacher shortage, are his top priorities, and he also frequently discusses job creation on his campaign Facebook page.

Ben Johnson — Johnson is a consultant who served in the U.S. Navy for many years. "I will focus on educational improvements for our educators and developing economic growth opportunities throughout the district," he wrote. "I will work to ease government regulations for economic prosperity and promote healthcare reform while protecting rural hospitals."

Michael Smith — Smith is a Lincoln County firefighter and has also worked as a lobbyist. He lists of a series of priorities including environmental stewardship, protecting worker's rights, protecting the Second Amendment and fully funding the state's education system.

Prentiss Smith — Smith is general manager at Toyota of Brookhaven. On social media and elsewhere, he often discusses education issues, including fully funding schools, raising teacher pay and similar topics. He also advocates for fixing the district's roads and bridges and improving the state's health care system and access to care.

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A Democratic member of the Mississippi House says he is resigning the seat he has held the past five years.

Rep. Abe Hudson Jr. of Shelby posted a Facebook video on Friday, saying that Monday will be his last day in office.

He represents a district in Bolivar and Sunflower counties.

ADVERTISEMENT

"Serving in this capacity has been one of the highest honors and proudest accomplishments of my life," Hudson said.

"I believe that my transition will allow both the Mississippi Delta and I to grow," he said. "Furthermore, it will allow someone with a fresh perspective to lead our area out of many of the challenges that we've aggressively started to address."

Republicans have a wide majority in the 122-member House, and Hudson's departure will not affect the partisan balance. Gov. Tate Reeves will set a special election to fill the District 29 seat. The four-year term ends in January 2024.

OVER 50 YEARS OF SERVICE TO LOCAL GOVERNMENTS

History

The ten Planning and Development Districts in Mississippi were created to assist local governments in the late 1960s in an attempt to address problems and issues on a multi–jurisdictional basis. In creating these organizations, technical assistance was provided by the then Office of Federal State Programs under the administration of Governor John Bell Williams, as well as other business development organizations. There were also federal matching grant incentives to the Districts, as well as to the local governments, if they met and maintained certain eligibility criteria, especially in the area of economic development. In 1971, in an effort to standardize regional economic development and planning boundaries, Governor Williams issued Executive Order 81, designating the Planning and Development Districts as Mississippi's official sub-state regions. This order also designated the Districts as the agencies to help ensure that projects and programs within the respective regions were developed according to a long range, continuous planning process. While largely voluntary, the Districts were given the responsibility to increase information and coordination, therefore eliminating duplication and waste.

Organization

Each Planning and Development District is an independent organization governed by a Board of Directors appointed by local leadership. The Governing Board of a District is composed of members from each county who are appointed by local officials. These appointments are comprised of elected local officials, business or industrial leaders, and representatives of the minority community.

Most Districts operate through an active committee system which may involve many other persons, not necessarily members of the Board of Directors. The Districts are managed by an Executive Director who is responsible to the Board of Directors, and the Districts are staffed not only by administrative and clerical personnel, but also by specialists in such areas as planning, geographic information systems, economic development, community development, grant writing, job training, social services, transportation, data processing, and gerontology.

Programs and Services

Since each District represents a distinctly different region of the state, its activities, projects, and programs are somewhat different. There are, however, many common functions provided in a very similar manner by each District.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

One of the principal functions of each Planning and Development District is economic development. Each District is designated by either the Economic Development Administration of the Department of Commerce or the Appalachian Regional Commission as the federally recognized organization to perform economic development, planning, and other related functions. The USDA Rural Development Administration is another major source of economic development assistance and most recently, the Delta Regional Authority was created using the same sub-state structure. Unlike some organizations which view economic development in a limited or specific manner, the Districts attempt to promote long-term job creation in the broadest sense.

Each District develops annually a Comprehensive Economic Development Strategy which is essential in maintaining eligibility for various federally funded programs. These programs primarily aid local communities with such public facilities as streets, water and sewer systems, and other infrastructure necessary to promote business and industrial growth. The vast majority of industrial parks in this state were developed with some form of federal assistance provided through Planning and Development Districts. Maintaining eligibility for funding also provides an opportunity to receive technical assistance grants and various types of loans.

While they may vary from region to region, there are numerous other economic development activities provided by the Districts. For example, the Districts provide statistical and economic information and analysis to potential business and industrial ventures. They also furnish information and assistance to cities and counties to aid them in being competitive and in building capacity so they can assist with economic growth. The Planning and Development Districts were the first organizations in Mississippi to integrate geographic information systems into their routine data management and mapping procedures.

LOAN PROGRAMS

All Districts have an active Revolving Loan Program. This program consists of grants, made to the Districts through a variety of federal agencies, to be loaned (usually in conjunction with other public or private financing) to businesses and industries to help in start ups or expansions. These loans are made at very attractive rates and when they are repaid, the funds are then loaned again to other businesses for commercial and/or industrial development activities. The money, therefore, stays in the area and continues to be a very viable economic development tool.

Another loan program available to the Planning and Development Districts is the Small Business Administration 504 Loan Program. Each District, acting as a Certified Development Company or acting through another Certified Development Company, is authorized to make loans (for a period of time not to exceed 20 years) to small businesses for land, buildings, and other fixed assets. These loans also are designed to create jobs and to stimulate business growth and are made in conjunction with private lending institutions which assume responsibility for approximately half the amount loaned. These loans have fixed and attractive rates, and the District's portion is guaranteed by the Small Business Administration in the event of default. Other loan programs available through the State of Mississippi include the Mississippi Minority Business Enterprise Loan Program and the Mississippi Small Business Assistance Loan Program. The former is specifically for minority owned businesses, including females, and the latter is for any Mississippi owned small business.

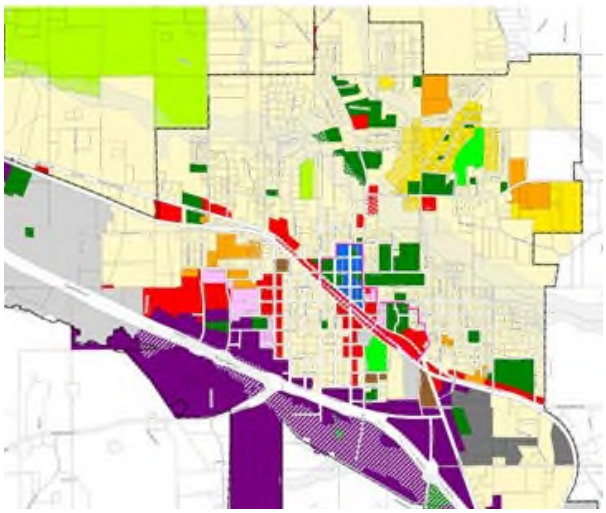
COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT

Community development is an additional area in which most Districts are very involved. The Community Development Block Grant Program is funded through the Department of Housing and Urban Development and administered by the Mississippi Development Authority. This is a very competitive program that funds various types of public facilities, economic development, and housing activities. Most Districts provide technical assistance to their cities and counties to help them select projects, prepare applications, and further document needs. Many Districts also are active at varying levels in actually administering projects and programs once they are funded. Moreover, the Districts sometimes assist communities with loans and grants through the USDA Rural Development Administration, with the development of parks through the Department of Interior, the development of trails through the Federal Highway Administration, both parks and trails grant programs are administered by the Mississippi Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, small municipalities and limited population counties grants, and small grants to rural volunteer fire departments.

TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE

In addition to providing federal and state financial aid for community development, the Districts offer varying types of technical assistance to help governments provide better management. Aid is available in such areas as personnel administration, financial management, budgeting, and capital improvements. Many Districts have computerized demographic analysis capabilities which they use to assist with the redistricting of political subdivisions. Also, computer mapping and geographic information systems are provided in some areas. Certain Districts have extensive involvement with technology communication systems, which further expand computer networks. If a District does not have the specific expertise on staff, it can link its local community with the proper person in state or federal government, or the District might possibly work with another District in a joint venture.



PLANNING ASSISTANCE

In varying capacities, the Districts provide communities with local and regional planning assistance. Maintenance of a regional planning process is a federal requirement for some programs, and the Districts maintain this process to insure eligibility for their local areas. Certain areas of the state are more active in planning and growth management than other areas depending on the level of expertise at each District. For example, in metropolitan areas which receive federal funding for transportation, a metropolitan planning process is required. In these areas, the District administers this process and requires that all state and federal construction dollars are expended in accordance with the plans developed by the District and approved by the local governments representing the area.

Another example of a District's involvement in local planning is the preparation of comprehensive plans for cities and counties. Many Districts prepare and administer zoning ordinances and subdivision regulations for their various communities

HUMAN RESOURCE DEVELOPMENT

Another area in which the Districts are increasingly involved is human resource development. It is generally felt that improving physical resources is of little value if it does not benefit human development. One of the major aspects of human resource development, which has significant economic development implications, is job training. Multi-county regions, as required as part of the Workforce Investment Act, include the Planning and Development Districts. The Districts are active in assessing the needs of their respective areas, developing annual training plans, and assisting in funding activities to carry out these plans. This program is funded through the Department of Labor and administered through the Mississippi Department of Employment Security. The business and industrial community provides significant input into the local planning process.

Another major program in this area relates to the elderly. Acting as the Area Agencies on Aging, the Districts provide an annual areawide plan which directs where federal dollars for the elderly are to be spent for the upcoming year. This plan is based upon needs assessments, demographics, national priorities, and input from the public. Once the plan is adopted, it directs the comprehensive aging activities in its service area for the next year. Traditional activities funded under this plan include congregate and home delivered meals, information and referral services, long-term care programs, and elder abuse prevention services.

In recent years, major efforts have been made to keep the elderly active in their own homes. As a result, there are various support programs available to assist with this endeavor. These include homemaker and care service programs, adult day care, employment opportunities, transportation programs and case management, as well as other long-term community based activities. One of the most important aspects is the use of the federal Medicaid Waiver program for long-term community based care, which allows patients to stay in their homes versus entering a nursing home. Medicaid payments are used to secure these services for the home-bound patient while saving money and providing a higher quality of life. Recognizing that it is not possible for all the elderly to remain in their homes, all Districts have ombudsman programs providing trained professionals who call on patients in nursing homes.

The Future

Activities of the Districts have changed significantly over the past five decades and these changes are expected to continue as the Districts reflect the needs and issues of their respective regions. The future of the Planning and Development Districts appears bright, because of their diversity and flexible nature. The Districts use business practices in providing regional, governmental functions. This makes them very diverse organizations responsible for programs ranging from meals on wheels to major infrastructure construction.

EXECUTIVE ORDER NO. 81

WHEREAS, Public Law 90-577, the Intergovernmental Cooperation Act of 1968, and Part IV of U.S. Office of Management and Budget Circular No. A-95, Revised, encourage the States "to exercise leadership in delineating and establishing a system of planning and development districts or regions in each State, which can provide a consistent geographic base for the coordination of Federal, State, and local development programs" in order to "minimize inconsistency among Federal administrative and approval requirements placed on State, regional, and metropolitan development planning activities" and to "eliminate overlap, duplication, and competition in State and local planning activities assisted or required under Federal programs and to encourage the most effective use of State and local resources available for development planning"; and

WHEREAS, Office of Management and Budget Circular No. A-95 requires that "prior to the designation or redesignation (or approval thereof) of any planning and development district or region under any federal program, Federal agency procedures will provide a period of thirty (30) days for the Governor(s) of the State(s) in which the district or region will be located to review the boundaries thereof and comment upon its relationship to planning and development districts or regions established by the State," and "where the State has established such planning and development districts, the boundaries of designated areas will conform to them unless there is clear justification for not doing so"; and

WHEREAS, an increasing number of federal, State, and local assistance programs require a sub-state, multi-jurisdictional structure in order to preserve the eligibility of State and local governments to participate in certain federally-assisted programs and projects; and

WHEREAS, the following sub-state, multi-jurisdictional organizations have been established by local governments and supported by local public revenues under the provisions of Section 2911.3 and Sections 2890.5-01 through 2890.5-08, Mississippi Code of 1942, Recompiled; and

WHEREAS, these multi-county districts have been organized with boundaries which represent natural, social, and economic relationships, and these districts have proved to be effective in the planning, coordination, and administration of public programs and projects;

June 11 71

In those cases in which it is not feasible for a State or federal agency to adhere to the Planning and Development District boundaries, each agency is encouraged to adjust its State and sub-state planning and program development activities to include all of one or more Planning and Development Districts or to include jurisdictions solely within the boundaries of the districts.

The Coordinator of Federal-State Programs, Office of the Governor, shall be the principal agency to advise and consult with the Planning and Development Districts, to assist them in participating in appropriate federal and State programs, and to coordinate the activities of the Planning and Development Districts so that they may constitute a unified and cohesive effort in carrying out overall State planning and development policies and programs.

Copies of this Order shall be provided to the Office of Management and Budget, Executive Office of the President, for the appropriate guidance of federal agencies and to all heads of State agencies. This Order shall become effective July 1, 1971.

candidates, they prepare and approve the ballots. That election is built in SEMS. Data is transmitted to the local election officials and they go about doing all their preparations necessary to conduct the election in their county or counties, if it's a multicounty district.

Q. Are absentee ballots available for voters to use in the circumstance of special elections like this?

A. Yes.

Q. And when are those absentee ballots prepared?

A. 45 days.

Q. You said earlier that 60 days was the time frame typically given. Does that mean you're able to qualify and determine who the candidates will be within two weeks?

MR. BECKETT: Object to the form.

THE WITNESS: Yes, we are able to do that. Largely because these are normally isolated events, it makes it a lot easier to handle. It's normally not set during a major election time when candidates have already been qualified so it makes it easier to focus on the handful of candidates that may have qualified for a single vacancy race.

BY MR. LAVELLE:

Q. What role, if any, does your office play in getting things ready for a state legislative special election?

A. So we will build the election in SEMS, as I previously mentioned. Candidates will qualify with our office. We will do an initial review of the qualifications and look for anything that we see as a potential issue to highlight to the SBEC. If we see something, we will send a letter to the candidate letting them know that we see a potential issue but that's not a final determination. We provide materials to the State Board of Election Commissioners so that we can meet and rule on candidate qualifications and approve the sample ballot so that an election can finally be pushed down to local election officials.

Q. And who is involved in that process that you just described from your office?

A. It will be myself; Laura Courtney, senior attorney; Madalan Lennep; and Logan Witcher, our elections compliance officer.

Q. Section B of the Topic 4 is "The State's experience and procedures for implementing newly drawn state legislative maps and for conducting special legislative elections during election cycles after 1990, including for implementing state legislative maps drawn in response to a court order."

Do you see that?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. All right. And you're familiar with this area of questioning?

A. I'm aware that we have had to have some specially drawn maps in Mississippi and implement elections for those.

Q. You're aware there has been a history here in Mississippi of electoral districts having to be redrawn; is that correct?

MR. BECKETT: Object to the form.

THE WITNESS: Yes.

BY MR. LAVELLE:

Q. That's happened in previous election cycles where a court has required electoral districts to be redrawn; correct?

A. Yes.

Q. That's happened on multiple occasions, in fact; right?

A. I believe so.

Q. Do you have a special set of procedures in the Secretary of State's office as to how to implement newly drawn state legislative maps if ordered by a court?

A. No. Once again, we don't implement the lines, that will be up to the county circuit clerks and the county election officials. The local county election officials actually implement whatever court-drawn maps may be provided.

Q. Did your office provide guidance or training to county officials in connection with those newly drawn state legislative maps by court order?

A. I'm not aware if any specific guidance was given around the time of those redistricting lines for those specially drawn maps.

Q. You would expect the counties to know what to do and they would be able to do it based on the training you provide on a regular basis; isn't that fair?

A. Yes. Counties are provided with training on how to conduct redistricting. From a general sense, yes, sir.

Q. And if county officials don't do what they are required to do, your office doesn't have any enforcement capacity; is that fair?
